

CASE STUDY:
Remondis, Malmoe

” What made us go for Njord is above all the fact that we feel they really clean the air effectively. ”

We wanted to eliminate bad air in the workplace, and to minimise the risk of harmful particles and the risk of fire due to an excessive build-up of dust. What made us go for Njord is above all the fact that we feel they really clean the air effectively. The air purifiers also have a simple and solid construction that is easy to install, so we felt Njord sounded like a good option for us.

Something else we really like about Njord is that they are good at tailoring systems to our business and to our specific needs. We are very happy with our collaboration with Njord. They stick to servicing times and always give us plenty of notice before coming and servicing our air purifiers and so on. I can heartily recommend Njord.

Per Persson, Site Manager
Remondis, Malmoe, Sweden

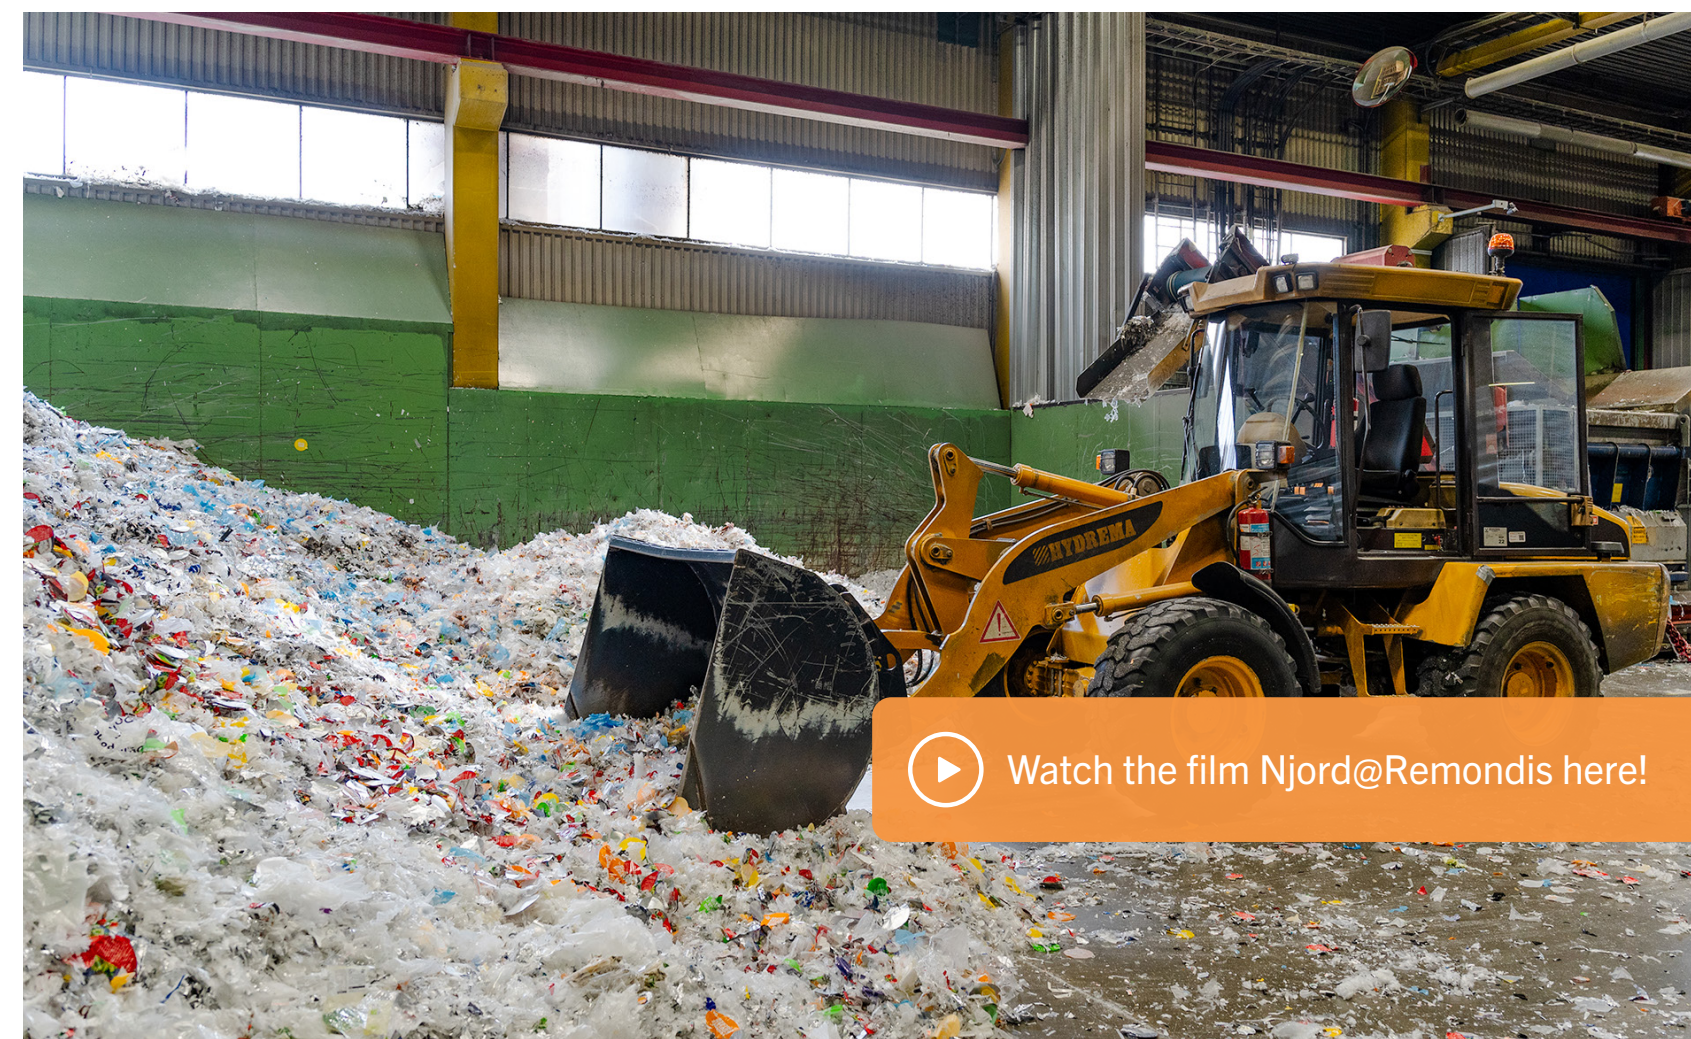

REMONDIS®

Remondis is one of the world's largest recycling and industrial service companies and is engaged in a huge number of different sectors – from recycling valuable raw materials from industrial and household waste, to producing recycling raw materials and even converting non-recyclable materials into a range of different fuels. www.remondis.se

njordcleanair.com

NJORD

www.njordcleanair.com
info@njordcleanair.com

▶ Watch the film Njord@Remondis here!