CASE STUDY:
Certex, Stockholm

”Choosing Njord was an easy decision because of their superior performance.”

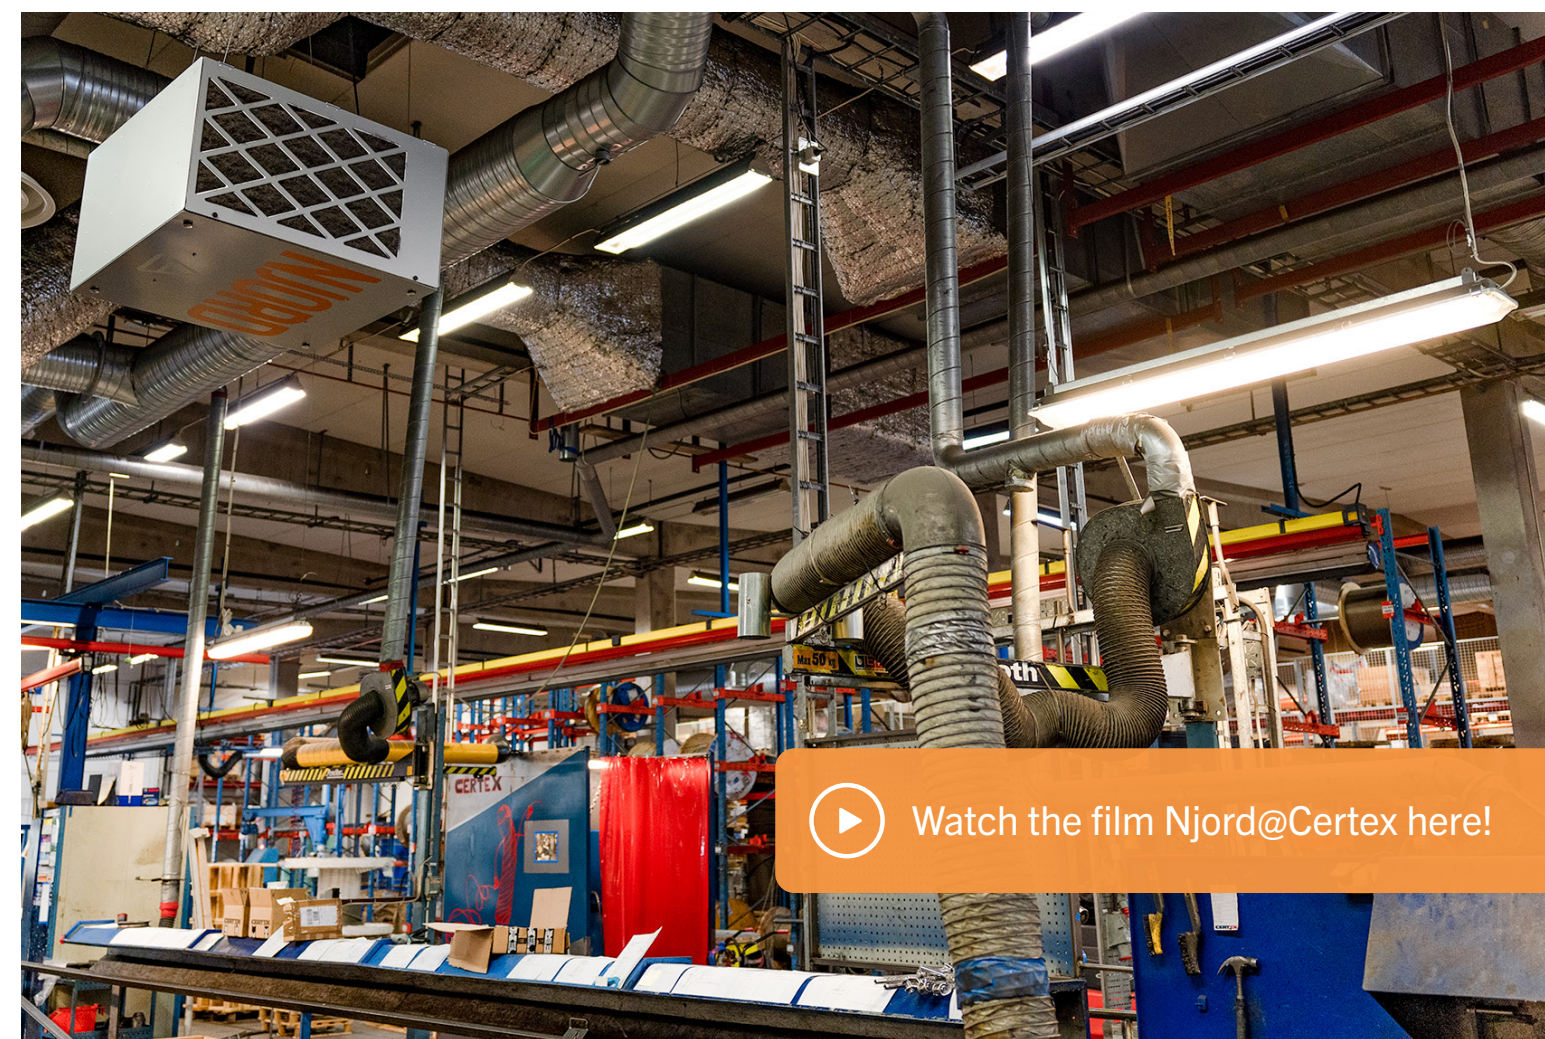

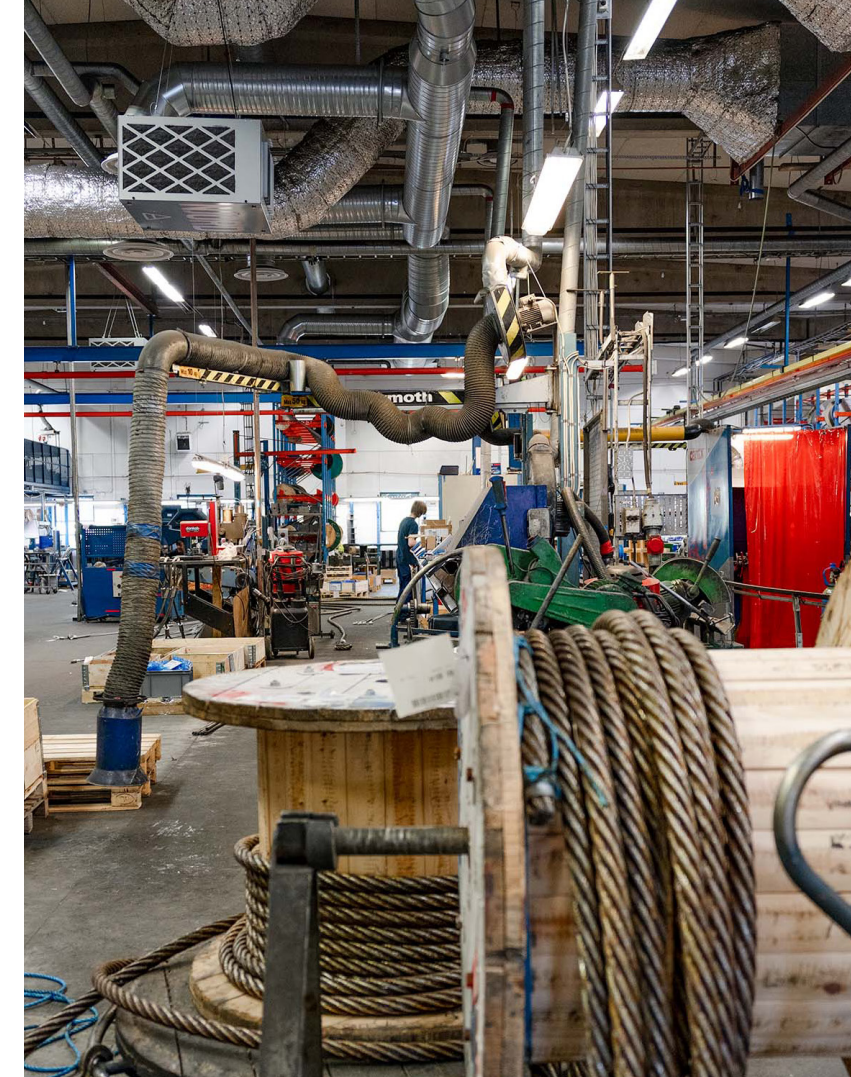

Certex offers all-in-one solutions for steel ropes, lifts and fall protection and our goal is to achieve safe lifts and to minimise the number of lift-related accidents. In light of this, we know how important it is to have a good and safe work environment. Using air purifiers in our operations was an obvious choice for us as they help create a good and healthy environment for our staff.

During our procurement process, we compared Njord’s air purification solution to other providers. Having conducted our own air analyses and compared the different systems, it was an easy decision to go for Njord as it demonstrated superior performance. Now, we have significantly cleaner premises and much better air indoors, and our staff don’t have to worry about breathing in harmful particles.
