

CASE STUDY:
Mekonomen / Nässjö, Sweden

”It’s great knowing that our staff are breathing clean, healthy air.”

Our mechanics and vehicle technicians who service and repair our customers’ vehicles work in facilities where dust, dirt, exhaust fumes and smoke from welding are a real challenge. Our employees’ safety and wellbeing is very important for us and we want to be able to offer them the safest possible work environment. That’s why we had Njord air purifiers installed in our workshop, giving us a significantly improved indoor environment and cleaner premises. And it’s great knowing that our staff are breathing clean, healthy air.
